GIRL AND ARMY PRIVATE SHOT BY "UNLOADED" GUN

Robinson Wounds Brother-in-Law and Miss Belle Witherill in Saturday Night Mishap at West Chazy, N. Y.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Nov. 21.—A double shooting accident occurred at West Chazy, near here, on Saturday night, the victims of which were Private Harrington of H. company, 5th United States Infantry, stationed here, and Miss Belle Witherill of West Chazy.

Harrington was on a visit to his wife, when his brother-in-law, in handling a double-barreled shotgun, pointed it at Harrington. The latter protested, but Robinson said it was not loaded, and to prove his assertion pulled the trigger.

The charge struck Harrington just below the hip. In the excitement Robinson pulled the trigger of the other barrel, and its contents struck Miss Witherill in the head, making a wound above her temple and tearing off a portion of her scalp. The wounds of both were dressed, and the physicians say they will recover.

SHOT IN FOOT.

William O'Connell of Enosburg Was Not Careful Enough.

Enosburg Falls, Nov. 21.—While William O'Connell, who works for E. Chamberlain on a farm south of this village, was cleaning a shot gun Sunday, it was accidentally discharged and a portion of the shot went into his foot, necessitating the amputation of two toes by Dr. F. S. Hutchinson. The young man is doing well.

FOR SUIT CASE CRIME.

Trial of Three Alleged to Be Implicated to Begin Next Monday.

Boston, Nov. 21.—The trial of Dr. Percy D. McLeod, Louis W. Crawford and William Howard for complicity in the suit case crime, of which Susan A. Gerry of Cambridge was the victim, will begin in the superior criminal court next Monday.

The arrangements for the trial were made yesterday afternoon after a long conference between District Attorney Michael J. Sughrue and Hon. Charles H. Innes, counsel for Dr. McLeod.

A STATEMENT BY INSPECTOR LAFAMME

Charles Lafamme, Chief of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the Lowell police department, and one of the best-known detectives in New England, having had over twenty years' experience in his profession, gladly gives the following testimony: "I am subject to cold in the winter, and I find immediate relief by taking Father John's Medicine. It gives me strength and keeps me well. My little daughter is crampy at times, and a spoonful of the Medicine relieves her at once. My wife would not be without it in the house."

Remember, Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the eminent specialist who prescribed it for the late Rev. Father John O'Brien, by whom it was recommended and from whom it derived its name. It is free from opium, morphine or any of the poisonous, nerve-damening drugs or weakening stimulants.

Father John's Medicine builds you up and tones up the system. Not a patent medicine—50 years in use.

YALE VICTORY IS EXPECTED

New Haven Team is Fast and Powerful

BUT HARVARD HAS HOPES

Has an Attack Much Stronger and More Varied—Crimson Will Have Her Best Men on the Field.

Boston, Nov. 21.—Harvard and Yale meet in the Stadium next Saturday afternoon in their final contest of the year. What will be the result? On first thought, after considering Harvard's games against Pennsylvania and Dartmouth on successive Saturdays and Yale's magnificent victory over Princeton, one would say that the New Haven eleven ought to defeat the Cambridge team quite as decisively as it did the aggregation from New Jersey. On second thought, students of football realize that Harvard has an opportunity to make a much better showing than the defeated team last Saturday. In the first place the Crimson has an offense that has shown more power and variety than anything that Princeton exhibited at New Haven. The Tigers were able to gain ground through the Yale left wing, but did not attempt to penetrate the other side of the line. Harvard's attack is strong enough and of sufficient variety to penetrate the Eli right side. The problem seems to be whether Harvard can hold together long enough to score and score often enough to win.

On the defense Harvard should be stronger than in any of her recent games. She will be able to put her best team into the game next Saturday, something she has been unable to do this month. This defense, with Foster, Hurley and Carr working uniformly with the line, should be stronger than Princeton's defense. With three days of hard work this week and two for light practice the Harvard team should be better together when it faces Yale than any time this season. It should be faster than in any previous contest, and speed is what the Crimson needs more than anything else in the concluding game of the season. Harvard is always at her best against Yale, and it is possible that the contest in the Stadium may not be as one-sided as that on Yale Field. On form, Yale should defeat Harvard so that there should be no question as to which team is the stronger.

Yale this year is represented by a great football team. It is far from being the best that has ever represented the Blue. There is an absence of so-called stars, but it is just this that makes the team great. It is a team first of all and not eleven individual members of great merit, and it is formed, developed and finished by the greatest coaching staff that has ever been gathered in New Haven. Unity of action is what stands out most prominently in the Yale eleven at work. Line and backs work in perfect harmony and at great speed, and speed is what Harvard will have to meet Saturday. Princeton failed to meet Yale's speed and team work with the same article of football, and the result was early foreseen. Yale has developed her offense at the sacrifice of her defense, but it is safe to say that the Yale coaches will work this week on the few weak points developed by Princeton.

Where Yale made her choice of players early in the season, Harvard has been forced to make constant shifts in her team on account of injured men. The best players have not been together all season, and this has made the task of Mr. Reid doubly difficult, since he was unacquainted with the abilities of the men of whom he took charge. He has had to find his men first and then proceed to develop them, immediately having to turn and begin the work over again when his first choices were put out of the running for the time being by reason of injuries. Harvard expects to put her best men against Yale, but it is impossible to expect anything like the team work that Yale has been able to develop. Harvard also will undoubtedly lack the sustained speed of her opponents, and Yale will be quick to take advantage of the slightest let-up. Followers of the Crimson are hoping for the best, but look for a defeat.

BROWN AND DARTMOUTH SCORES.

Standing of Both Teams Improved by Results of Saturday's Games.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 21.—It has become more and more apparent as the weeks of foot ball strife have passed that two teams of exceptional merit will meet on Hampden park next Saturday, and it is impossible now to pick a winner with any certainty of success. The results of Saturday's games did not clear up the problem, but on the contrary contained evidence that both Dartmouth and Brown can point to as showing that their team has the better chance of winning. Dartmouth succeeded not only in tying Harvard, but in outplaying the crimson, whereas earlier in the season Brown was beaten by Harvard 10 to 0. Saturday's score of 6 to 6 against Harvard showed that the Harvard team has not gone back since the victory over Princeton, and Amherst's line showing against Williams partly explains the game with Dartmouth the week after the Princeton game. But Brown on Saturday rolled up an immense score on the University of Vermont, which Dartmouth, in one of the season's easy games, beat only 13 to 0, which shows that the Providence young men could not have been much harmed with their contact with old Eli.

A comparison of the scores of Brown and Dartmouth against the teams both have played—a by no means accurate measure—is somewhat in Brown's favor. The second game of each team was against the Massachusetts agricultural college team, Dartmouth making 18 points and Brown 24. Vermont and

Are You Troubled With Dandruff?

Because you have attained a certain age it doesn't follow that your hair must naturally part company with you.

AGAINST INTERSTATE.

Circuit Court Judge, Chicago, Gives a Decision.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 21.—Judge Bethes, in the United States circuit court yesterday decided that the order issued by the interstate commerce commission directing that the railroad rates on livestock between the Missouri river and Chicago be lowered, in conformity with the rates on dressed beef, was illegal. In summing up the case, Judge Bethes declared that there was no evidence of collusion on the part of the railroads, and that the rates on livestock were not a discrimination. He held further that the interstate commerce commission was not binding on the railroads, and that the commission had not the power to compel the railroads to obey its rulings.

BLACK HAND IN HAZING CASE.

Coroner Warned to Desist from Pierson Investigation.

Mount Vernon, O., Nov. 21.—The "Black Hand" has apparently taken up the case of young Pierson, the Kenyon college student, who, it is alleged, was killed by a train after being tied to a railway track awaiting initiation into a Greek letter fraternity. Coroner Scarborough yesterday received the following letter, mailed at Station V. Brooklyn, N. Y.:

"Coroner Scarborough: Call off your dogs. Pierson was not injured by any student. You are courting serious trouble."

The letter was signed by a big black hand.

WHEN BOSSES DISAGREE

There is Chance For Reform in New York.

IVINS MAY BE NEW LEADER

Both Platt and Odell Likely to Oppose—His Force and Ability as Shown in the Recent Campaign.

New York, Nov. 21.—Ex-Governor Odell last evening met the local Republican leaders to prepare for the new war which Senator Platt has declared against him. Odell has by no means lost his hold on the local Republican machine and there is little doubt that he will once more down Platt. He will not insist, however, in keeping William Halpin at the head of the Republican county committee. He acknowledges the justice of many of the complaints against Halpin, and will probably select another man to make the fight against J. Van Vechten Olcott, Platt's candidate for chairman. Halpin was responsible for the farcical fusion conference in October and to him, more than anybody else, was due the breaking up of the fusion movement. A movement against Odell at this time might be a serious proposition if it were headed by the right sort of leader. There is undoubtedly a strong feeling against the ex-governor in the Republican party, and his testimony before the insurance investigating committee last week was not altogether satisfactory even to his friends. But everybody recognizes Platt's move as an effort to regain the bossship, and everybody knows that Platt, in his day of power, was a more selfish and unscrupulous boss than Odell. Not one prominent Republican outside of the machine forces has so far responded to Platt's appeal, and the general feeling is that if there must be a choice between the two bosses the younger one is preferable.

There is a chance that some real reform movement may come out of this factional quarrel. Many Republicans are hoping that both bosses may be weakened by the fight and that the late Republican candidate for mayor, William M. Ivins, may somehow come to the front as a party reorganizer. Ivins made a strong impression on the local Republicans during the campaign. He led a forlorn hope in a mastery and showed rare ability as a political organizer. He proved, too, that he was absolutely independent of machine dictation. If he should take the chairmanship of the county committee, the Republicans would have a local organization that would command the respect of the whole party. Mr. Ivins is not inclined to fight for the place, however, nor is either Platt or Odell inclined to accept his service. They know that he would not take orders under any circumstances. Still, it is regarded as possible that the better element of the party may rise up while the factionists are fighting and that the bosses may be forced to put at the head of the local organization a man of the stamp of Ivins. Few persons outside of the officeholders care whether Platt or Odell wins, but the great mass of Republican voters of the city would be deeply interested in a move to establish a clean, respectable organization. Platt's frequent assertions that President Roosevelt is back of him in this fight against Odell are not credited. The president has always kept his hands off, in local fights here and nobody who knows him believes that he would support a movement to restore Platt to power.

FROTHINGHAM'S PLURALITY 196.

Recount in Boston Confirms the Result of Primaries.

Boston, Nov. 21.—At the completion of the recount of the ballots cast on the Republican mayoralty nomination, at Faneuil Hall, late yesterday, it was shown that Louis A. Frothingham had defeated Judge Henry S. Dewey by 196 votes. The recount showed Frothingham 9,941 and Dewey 9,745. Dewey's vote was 191 in excess of the number originally returned.

ASK A RECEIVER.

Bill in Equity Concerning the Good Fellows.

Boston, Nov. 21.—Mary M. Hester and others of New York filed a bill of equity yesterday afternoon in the superior court asking for the appointment of a receiver for the grand lodge of the Royal Society of Good Fellows, which operates under a Rhode Island charter. An order of notice returnable Nov. 27. The petitioners are holders of death claims against the society and declare in their bill that the order is insolvent and unable to do business.

The society has recently been compelled to suspend business in this state.

GROSVENOR'S POSITION AS TO DUTY ON HIDES

The Ohio Congressman Makes a Suggestion Which May Interest Some New Englanders.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—Representative Grosvenor of Ohio, ways and means member of the House, made it plain here yesterday morning that he follows the leadership of Foraker in preference to that of Taft. He told a vivid incident of Senator Foraker getting up from a sick bed to save the lower house of the Ohio legislature just before the recent election, and then branched into a tariff discussion. "If those fellows in New England," said he, "will agree to make a reduction on the prices of things that they make and we have to use out West, I'll be glad to help them to get a reduction of duty of hides. Isn't that a square deal?"

DRASTIC ACTION. Large Insurance Companies Opposed in California.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 21.—Emory Wolfe, the present state insurance commissioner, as a result of the development made during the insurance investigation in New York, has decided to go before the Legislature and recommend important changes in the laws concerning the regulation of insurance companies in California. He has decided that no company should be allowed to do business in this state if its assets exceed $500,000,000. Wolfe also believes there should be concerted action by the state so that insurance legislation might be made uniform.

DELAY EQUITABLE ARGUMENTS.

Hearing Postponed Until Next Friday.

New York, Nov. 21.—Arguments on the demurrers of Equitable Life Assurance Society directors which were set for yesterday were postponed until next Friday. The demurrers were interposed to suits brought by State Attorney Julius M. Mayer for accountings by the former officers and directors of the Equitable.

PRISONER MAY BE ROGERS.

Supposed Suspect in Connection With Triple Murder Caught.

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 21.—A stranger is under arrest here on suspicion that he is Charles Rogers wanted in connection with the triple murder in Middletown, N. Y., last October. He is being held for possible identification by the Middletown officials. He says his name is John C. Hamel. He has admitted he was in Middletown in October, but denies any knowledge of the crime.

Hamel was noticed in Bristol, Conn., about 6 o'clock Sunday evening by a railroad brakeman who thought the man answered the description of Rogers. The brakeman informed the Bristol police, but meanwhile the man had boarded a train for this city. Chief Arms of Bristol informed the Waterbury police, and Detectives Kennaugh and Keegan took Hamel into custody yesterday when the train arrived here. He is detained in police headquarters.

CHILD DIED FOR BABY.

Little Girl Rescued Brother, but Flames Killed Her.

Brookton, Mass., Nov. 21.—In saving her baby brother Theodore from death by fire, Agnes, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Anderson, 12 Barry street, received burns from which she died at the Brookton hospital early yesterday morning. Mr. Anderson had left a lighted lamp on the table in the sitting-room, where the 13 months old baby, with other children was playing on the floor. Suddenly the babe seized the tablecloth and pulled the lamp to the floor, where the blazing oil ignited. Agnes rushed into the flames and saved the baby, but her clothing caught fire and she was frightfully burned, living only a few hours.

Mr. Seaborn, the Premier of New Zealand, announced in a speech recently that Japanese would not be allowed to come to New Zealand and that the Colony would refuse to be dictated to in the matter. This is in reference to a circular from the British Colonial Office, addressed to the colonies and demanding the repeal of laws that are repugnant to the feelings of nations with which Great Britain is at peace.

ARE YOUR LUNGS EASILY AFFECTED

A Little Precaution Now may Save a Lot of Trouble Later—Remember, "An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure."

Weak Lungs are a constant source of danger and one cannot be too careful during this trying winter weather. People are altogether too prone to neglect what they term a "little cold."

This cold is very often the forerunner of death. From a "little cold" it develops into a big one, and then follow serious complications. A cough starts in the throat. No particular attention is paid to this, but it goes on slowly but surely getting in its deadly work. The cough gradually descends until it fastens itself upon the lungs, and then for the first time the victim begins to realize his danger. Unless energetic action is taken, this cough will develop into consumption.

Cod Liver Oil has long been recognized by medical authorities as the most efficient remedy in Throat and Lung difficulties. In Magee's Emulsion you get the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil combined with Extract of Malt. There is no ingredient in Magee's Emulsion that is not of benefit to the system. It acts almost immediately and its results are certain.

Restores Vitality and Strength. Miss Nellie Nolan of Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been a long and patient sufferer from a lung difficulty; have taken a great amount of medicine and been under the care of several physicians, all of which finally failed to benefit me. I had lost two sisters and one brother from the dread disease of Consumption, and when the doctors gave me up, I thought I should follow them by the ravages of the same disease. I was terribly reduced in weight, scarcely weighing 100 pounds. I took Magee's Emulsion and at once began to experience relief, gained strength and now weigh 150 pounds. No other medicine could have done as much for my lungs. I am sure, and I can recommend it without hesitation."

Start taking Magee's Emulsion today. Don't wait until to-morrow, as that never comes. Don't wait until your cold has developed into that dread disease, Consumption. Magee's Emulsion will help you as surely as the sun will rise on the morrow.

NO WINE—NO WHISKEY—JUST FOOD. Insist upon the genuine—take no substitute.
